

KNOTT SOUGHT DEATH TO END HIS TROUBLES

Cleveland Man Attempted Suicide by the Laud- anum Route.

John T. Knott, of Cleveland, a laborer, made a desperate attempt to take his life at his room on Market street yesterday morning. Domestic trouble is said to be the cause.

About ten days ago Knott left his home in Cleveland and came to this city. Before leaving, it is alleged, he had some difficulty with his wife and her sister, the nature of which could not be learned.

Since locating here he has been doing odd jobs. Sunday and Monday he was badly intoxicated and did not return to work. Tuesday morning he arose early and told his landlady that his troubles would soon be over. Leaving his room he proceeded up town and at one of the drug stores bought three ounces of laudanum. After this he visited several saloons and then returned to his room badly intoxicated.

About 1 o'clock Mrs. Thomas Youngston, his landlady, heard groans coming from his room and on investigating found Knott lying on the floor. The empty bottle told the tale. Calling a physician as soon as possible she rendered all the aid she could. The doctor arrived 20 minutes later and immediately used his stomach pump. The liquor Knott had taken prevented the laudanum from doing its work and it is expected that he will be able to be around as usual in a few days. His wife has been notified and it is believed she will respond to his request to come to him.

LONG JOURNEY

Pennsylvania Couple En- route to California Overland Visited Can- ton.

George D. Morgan of Allentown, Pa., arrived in Canton yesterday morning on a long journey. He is en route overland in a covered wagon to San Diego, Cal., and expects to reach that city some time in December. He made the same trip 15 years ago.

Mr. Morgan left Allentown the latter part of August and owing that he was delayed several times by bad roads and a break down he, according to his story, is about two weeks behind time. He expected to arrive here about the first of October.

Mrs. Morgan is accompanying him. He is 65 years of age while she is 53. Both are well preserved and expect to reach the century mark.

Two sons and a daughter live in San Diego. They wanted their parents to make the journey by rail, but the father refused to go overland. Mrs. Knott consented to his plans and says she is enjoying the trip immensely.

U. S. Hotel Changed Hands.

The U. S. hotel, corner of East Tenth and South Saxton streets, has changed hands. John Nichter, of Orrville, has purchased it of the Studers and will run a good house. It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Studer have left the city permanently.

East Liverpool school children will get two weeks' Christmas vacation this year.

FIRE

Destroys L. E. A. & W. Railroad Trestle Near Alliance.

Special to Morning News.
Alliance, Ohio, October 16.—Fire this afternoon destroyed about seventy-five feet of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling railroad trestle at North Benton, eight miles northeast of Alliance. The structure is of wood and five hundred feet long. It is supposed the fire originated from sparks from a passing locomotive. Water trains were run out from this city and a force of men worked until four o'clock before getting the flames under control. It will be some days before trains can pass over the trestle and until then passengers will have to transfer at that point.

The central committee will meet Thursday evening to arrange for the meeting here.

TAMMANY RATIFIES

New York, Oct. 16.—With their candidate for governor, W. R. Hearst, absent on a speaking tour up state, Tammany Hall tonight ratified the action of the Democratic state convention in its usual way with red fire, bands of music and much speech-making. The candidate for lieutenant governor, Louis Stuyvesant Chanler was the chief speaker and was fairly well received, but it was for its own particular and much loved son, "Billy" Sulzer, who was turned down by order of "Boss" Murphy at the Buffalo convention, that Tammany did itself proud. It cheered him for minutes at a time, and when he tried to speak the crowd cheered again and again. Speeches lauding Democracy and paying tribute to Hearst and his fellow candidates were made by Bourke Cockran, Thomas F. Grady, Congressman Goulden, Goldfogel, Sulzer, Harrison and others.

Negro Murderer Caught.

Roanoke, Va., Oct. 16.—John Hardy, the negro desperado, who last Thursday night shot and killed Policeman Robert M. Beard, while officers were raiding a negro dive in northwest Roanoke, was captured today on Bent Mountain, ten miles from here. Hardy in an attempt to shoot his captors fired a bullet through his own head, but did not inflict a fatal wound. He is tonight in Doanoke jail. Hardy early this morning went to the house of Preston Shilling, a farmer, and asked to be allowed to lie down, saying he was ill. He was limping from a pistol wound in the groin, received on the night of the murder and at once recognized Hardy. He put the negro to bed and his son hurried to another farm house for help. Three men entered the room where Hardy was sleeping and jumped on him. He had a 44 caliber revolver under the covers and in trying to shoot the farmers shot himself. Hardy spent last night at a negro cabin. He told his host he was being hunted and that he would never be taken alive. He said the bloodhounds at one time had been within fifteen feet of him, and that officers had been within ten feet of him, while he was lying in the bushes. He had greased the soles of his shoes to throw the dogs off his tracks. Hardy has killed three men and is wanted in North Carolina and West Virginia for murder.

There were forty-three young men about the banquet table, which was beautifully decorated.

Oldroyd, J. A. Jeffers, Robert Spidel, F. T. Rench, Ralph Brown, A. R. Lauffer, E. L. McQuiston, E. A. Stolberg, G. W. Mobarrey and A. N. Thomas.

Special to Morning News.
Akron, O., Oct. 16.—A. G. Sisler, treasurer of Clinton township, is missing from his home and the treasury is short about $15,000. Two months ago Sisler went away on an extended visit and while he was gone the trustees of the township discovered that there was a shortage in his funds.

Spiritualist Convention.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Through members of the National Spiritualists' Association, the dead communicated with their friends in Chicago tonight. The gathering opened the Spiritualists' fourteenth annual convention. All the lectures were delivered by spirits, through mercurial members of the association. Conditions in the other world was discussed at length, and many suggestions made for improvements in this. Numerous individual messages were also delivered to persons in the audience. A vigorous fight is being waged against charlatanism and on this subject the spirits spoke with much feeling, pointing out that unless "fake" mediums are suppressed the spirit world will soon be shut off by legislation in the various states from communication with their surviving friends. In the hope that rance mediums may be able to recall something of their wanderings in ghost land phonographic records are to be taken of their utterances while under the spell of those who have gone before. These records will afterwards be repeated to them and the association thinks it may be possible, in this way to recall to them facts of interest to psychological investigators. Conditions are unfavorable for such an experiment in public, however, and the tests will be privately made.

An effort will be made to form a union of Spiritualists, Unitarians, Swedenborgians, Universalists and Quakers. The Christian Scientists have already declined overtures in this direction.

A Suicide.

Pittsburg, Oct. 16.—Harry Bartholomew, 21 years old, of 627 West La-cocock street, Allegheny, quarreled with his wife after returning from the theatre tonight, and leaving her in anger he drank the contents of a vial of phenol, dying in a short time.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Plenty of Them in Canton, and Good Reason for It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy, after years of backache suffering. Days of misery, nights of unrest. The distress of urinary troubles. She finds relief and cure. No reason why any Canton reader should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. E. V. Cable, of 1107 Marion street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me in 1900 of an attack of backache and aching pains through the shoulders and loins. An occasional dose since that time has served to keep my kidneys in good conditions, and I have had no such suffering as I formerly endured. I have advised many of my friends in Canton to go to the Durbin & Wright Co.'s drug store for Doan's Kidney Pills. I have always felt confident in assuring them of prompt and certain relief."

OVER A THOUSAND COUNTS.

Federal Grand Jury in Tennessee Gets
After Standard Oil Company

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 16.—The grand jury in the federal court at Jackson, Tenn., today returned an indictment containing 1524 counts against the Standard Oil company of Indiana. Each count charges the transportation of a separate carload of oil at a discriminating rate in favor of the Standard, and each count constitutes a separate offense. The maximum total penalties possible under it would be $30,480,000, and the minimum total, $1,524,000. It covers alleged shipments for the past three years. The indictment is the outcome of the investigation made by James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, into the operations of the Standard Oil company, and especially the transportation of petroleum, which investigations were presented to congress by a report submitted last May accompanied by a special message by President Roosevelt. The case presented by this grand jury deals with one of the most important parts of that system, involving what is called in Mr. Garfield's report the "Grand Junction Rate." This grand junction rate was a secret arrangement whereby the Standard Oil company was enabled to ship oil from its refinery at Whiting, Ind., to the south at a rate much lower than the lowest lawful rate. This was accomplished by a very effective and ingenious combination of rates over four or more roads and by way of obscure junction points.

Never Quits.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—"When I undertake a job of work I never let go," said Sir Thomas Lipton in nearly all his speeches in Milwaukee today, but he confessed that he was tired before he had gone the rounds of visits, receptions and banquets which the exuberantly hospitable committee in charge of his entertainment had arranged. From the moment of his arrival from Chicago at 11 o'clock in the morning, Sir Thomas whirled from one function to another with a haste that bespoke a desire on the part of the committee to see that none of Milwaukee's points of interest escaped his notice.

And Sir Thomas, withal, said nice things about the beauty of the girls, the cleanliness of the streets, the industry and enterprise of the men and the beauty of the city. And Sir Thomas, a heart free bachelor, smiled all the while. And Sir Thomas saw the best Milwaukee has to show, met its prettiest woman, and forefathered with its most representative men. He rode in the mayor's auto, in itself an experience not soon to be forgotten even by an Irish yachtman, he shook hands with a hundred veterans of the soldiers' home; he sat at the feet of Milwaukee-Downer college girls, and admitted that he never was so pleased in all his homely, bachelor life; he swapped yarns and engaged in porch cruise with the members of the Milwaukee Yacht club, lunched with Col. Gustav Pabst at Whitefish Bay, inspected the revenue cutter Tuscarora; saw fireboat No. 15, Captain Sherburne M. Becker, ex-officio, in command, go through its fire fighting stunts; wrote his name on a panel on the rooms of the Milwaukee Press club; shook hands with a thousand or more Irish-Americans, German-Irish-Americans and other Irish-Americans at the Hotel Pfister, and wound up the day by hearing Joe Donnelly at a grand $10-a-plate banquet in the Fern room of the hotel. It was a strenuous day, indeed. So strenuous, in fact, that, for once in his life, Sir Thomas denied himself one of his favorite pastimes—talking to reporters. At the banquet tonight Sir Thomas reiterated his determination to bring over a fourth Shamrock.

Ackerman Defeated Ross.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 16.—Al Ackerman, of Lima, the welterweight champion of Ohio, demonstrated tonight that he was one of the best of his class in the state, when he defeated "Young" Ross, of this city, in straight falls at Lavaek's gymnasium. It was not victory over Ross that showed Ackerman's superiority, but his work on the mat. The Cleveland boy never had a chance on the offensive, while he was given a grueling that will make him remember the bout for some time. It was a fast and furious match and one of the best ever witnessed in this city as there was not a dull moment during the entire 40 minutes and 30 seconds of wrestling.

Solved Aerial Navigation.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The secret of aerial navigation has been solved, according to Octave Chanute, civil engineer, well known in Chicago and himself something of an experimenter with flying machines. Mr. Chanute claims no credit for the invention of the machine in question, however. It is the device, he says, of Wilbur and Orrville Wright, brothers, of Dayton, Ohio. It is not, he adds, a balloon with motor attachments, but a system of aeroplanes, propelled by a gasoline engine. It is said to be capable of carrying two men and additional weight of 200 pounds at the rate of 28 miles an hour. Asked how the experiments were made known to the public Chanute explained:

"The local papers suppressed the facts and outside papers ignored them."

He declined to give a minute description on the ground that several foreign governments are negotiating for the purchase of the machine.

Pushing Pershing Along

Washington, Oct. 16.—While no formal announcement of the selection of young brigadier J. J. Pershing to command the American army in Cuba, has been made at the war department, it was rumored there today in responsible military circles, that the president had indicated his intention to give General Pershing this assignment. It has been understood from the beginning that General Bell would only remain in Cuba long enough to get a grasp of the situation there.
